Strategic Context

This plan is intended to be a working document for Destination Osoyoos and its stakeholders while providing guidance to the organization as it is the recognized tourism marketing and management organization as well as the designated recipient of the MRDT in the town of Osoyoos. Tourism continues to be a growth strategy for our community and our region. Destination Osoyoos has established the organization to be a relevant and important entity that has contributed significantly to the community growth and increased revenues experienced by its stakeholders. Local employment is significantly seasonal and continues to exceed the labor force supply. Regionally we are sitting at 5.9% unemployment which is considered full employment. The local demographic further exacerbates the issue of an insufficient labor force as the average age in Osoyoos is between 57 years of age. We are known as a resort community as well as a retirement community, with a significant number of investment property homes. In addition to our MRDT our funding comes from Fee for Service contracts with the Town of Osoyoos, the RDOS, and the Osoyoos Indian Band. All agreements compliment the Destination Osoyoos key mandate to deliver tourism marketing and product development for the community.

In recent years, Destination Osoyoos has built on its brand promise with a keen focus on developing all-inclusive accommodation packages and travel deals that feature a variety of tourism businesses and products throughout the year, promoting festivals and events that celebrate the unique qualities of our community and region as well as delivering on very successful marketing campaigns aimed at the leisure winter traveler. Marketing and promotion will continue to be the key elements in our measured success, however, product development initiatives, collaborative approaches to marketing and an exceptional visitor services model have been identified as areas of concentration needed to generate increased demand. This will include building strategic partnerships at the local, regional, provincial, and national levels as working together remains vital in the sustainable development of tourism for our region.

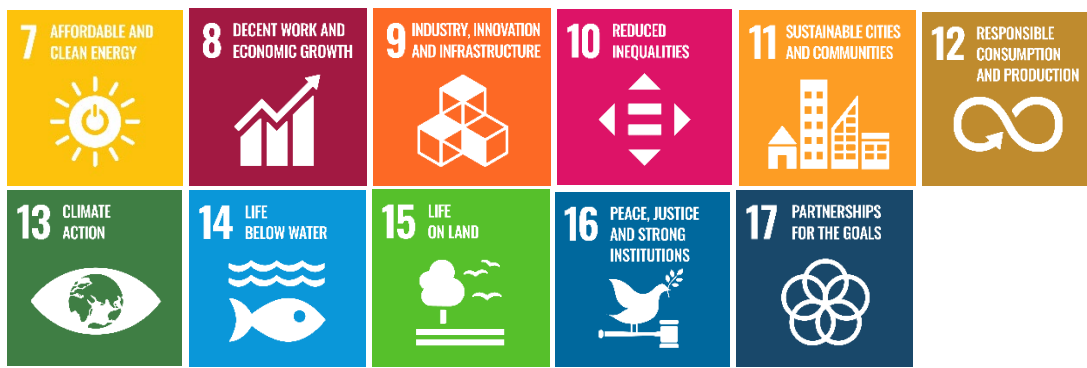

Balancing the opportunities with available resources and ensuring consideration continue to be given to the challenges such as seasonality, labor shortages and capacity of the accommodation market will continue to be priorities in the next several years. The 3% Municipal and Regional District Tax (MRDT) revenue will continue to provide Destination Osoyoos with approximately $900,000 in annual funds. The enhanced funds will continue to assist DO in building upon current activities and events, development of stakeholder assets and training programs allowing for the development of new exceptional experiences while building greater awareness of our destination in key markets that will ultimately realize increased visitation to our community.

Sustainable Destination Development

In 2015, the United Nations created 17 Sustainable Development Goals and aimed to achieve them by 2030. All 193 United Nations Member States agreed on these 17 goals to end poverty, ensure prosperity, and protect the planet. As Destination Osoyoos looks forward, the years to come, our organization will focus on the current and future economic, social, sustainable and environmental impacts, addressing the needs of visitors, the industry, and the environment. Destination Osoyoos will follow the 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) as the key framework for building a sustainable tourism destination.

The United Nations 17 Sustainable Development Goals are:

Economic Conditions

In June 2021 Destination Osoyoos commissioned Larose Research & Strategy to undertake a comprehensive and independent evaluation of the size, composition, and characteristics of the tourism industry in Osoyoos. A study of this nature had not been conducted in the past.

Destination B.C.'s Value of Tourism model was used to estimate visitor volumes and direct tourism revenues for 2020. The primary data source for these estimates is commercial accommodation statistics in the study area. An accommodations questionnaire gathered data from local hotels and motels. Destination B.C.'s Research, Planning and Evaluation team then worked with Larose Research & Strategy to evaluate data modelling parameters, to gather and evaluate relevant statistics from key accommodation businesses, and to generate a conservative estimate of visitor volumes and direct tourism expenditures in Osoyoos, broken down by key visitor segments.

Additional economic impacts were also estimated by Larose Research & Strategy using Statistics Canada's Provincial-Territorial Input-Output Model (2015). These impact measures include total economic impacts (direct, indirect, induced, total), tourism-related employment, and tourism-derived tax revenues.

The Value of Tourism results are significant because they quantify an important source of economic activity in the region, which have never been estimated previously. The results of this project provide a significant contribution to the understanding of the local tourism industry characteristics, its economic value, and how tourism stakeholders, residents, and governments can ensure positive visitor and local resident experiences with tourism in Osoyoos.

There were an estimated 301,000 visitors to Osoyoos in 2021 and Osoyoos saw nearly twice as many overnight visitors (193,000) as day visitors (108,000) who visit the community as an intentional destination for at least a half-day. The 301,000 visitors spent $174 million in the community – a majority of spending (94%) from independent leisure travellers. The study also found that the overall economic impact of tourist expenditures was $264 million. Tourism directly employed 650 people in Osoyoos in 2021, which is one of the top employment industries for the community.

Key Market Trends relative to Destination Osoyoos

DOMESTIC TRAVEL

In the context of growing uncertainties overseas and restrictions on international travel, Canadians have been taking more trips within their own provinces and territories. Early travellers will be highly motivated to re-connect with family and friends after an extended time apart. This will be evident in both short-haul and long-haul domestic travel. There still remains much pent-up demand for travel, there's also a significant portion of the population that's not entirely comfortable straying far from home, creating opportunities for drive destinations and the creation of road trip itineraries for travellers willing to explore more deeply in a regional, provincial, territorial, or national context. Osoyoos is well positioned to near-drive markets including Vancouver and Calgary and continue to work with regional partners to develop road trip itineraries.

RESPONSIBLE TRAVEL

The pandemic has changed the world of travel and further enhanced the desire to connect in meaningful ways with places visited. While socio- environmental consciousness towards travel is also on the rise. Awareness of a traveller's impact — on urban and wilderness environments and also on local populations — has led to reflection on the part of both destinations and those who enjoy them. In sensitive environments, tourism operators are clear in their desire for balanced growth that also promotes local cultures, preserves the heritage, and supports community economic development. The promotion of responsible travel will be a key aspect in Destination Osoyoos' overall sustainable development plan. Osoyoos has several attractions and product available to visitors that focus on sustainability including agritourism and regenerative farming, as well as education and preservation of our diverse desert lands, lake, and habitats.

WILD FOR WILDERNESS

For many travellers, the freedom of wild and wide-open spaces has been the perfect antidote to confinement, driving visitation to national parks and other nature-based destinations, even in traditional off-seasons. Many travellers and nature-explorers seek physically challenging adventures and retailers and other outfitters have created trips tailored to their customers' tastes and experience. Others are looking for a more passive way to engage with the natural world, seeking easy day trips or trails they can visit with family members of all ages. Positioned as "Canada's Desert," Osoyoos offers a distinct experience for visitors seeking unique landscapes and wide-open spaces, with a variety of family-friendly nature activities and attractions.

INDIGENOUS CONNECTION

Indigenous experiences are of growing interest to Canadian and international travellers, which helps create sustainable employment for Indigenous communities while enriching travellers' experiences through the sharing of culture, history, and tradition. Research conducted by the Indigenous Tourism Association of Canada (ITAC) and Destination Canada shows that one in three Canadians are interested in Indigenous experiences and that historically, international visitors have an even higher level of interest (37%). Osoyoos has several unique and high-quality Indigenous tourism experiences. This is an opportunity for Destination Osoyoos to build stronger connections with the Osoyoos Indian Band in the enhancement and promotion of local Indigenous product offerings and experiences.

AFFLUENT TRAVEL BOOM

Affluent travellers are eager to spend their money on leisure trips, leading to a rebound of this segment. At the same time, the increase in savings is driving demand for legendary experiences in many demographics. The affluent travel boom is one of the clearest signs of a spending surge by the wealthy that is likely to tilt the balance of recovery. In 2021, Google's search interest in the phrase "luxury hotels" is at its highest since before 2006. Osoyoos offers a diverse range of accommodation options including high-end resort properties which will meet the demands of this high-value traveller. The development of niche leisure product that is both high-quality and focusses on wellbeing is an important value to this market, and Osoyoos has several offerings to meet this need.

REMOTE WORK AND RESIDENTIAL TOURISM

The office environment reality has radically shifted since the onset of the pandemic. Remote work, made possible during the pandemic, has worked well for many companies and employees, providing an easy and less expensive means to conduct meetings and to avoid health concerns associated with travelling during the pandemic. Remote work may become a way of life for some. People are not just working from home but working from a variety of what might be considered vacation destinations, using innovative platforms to adapt. The divide between live, work and play are smaller than ever. As a result, remote workers are increasingly a new visitor segment in many regions. Osoyoos is well positioned to welcome longer-term stays for this digital nomad market, and will continue to develop shoulder season packages to attract this visitor for weeklong stays.

Market Performance

Local accommodation providers are boasting robust and at times historical outcomes. In the past decade, there has been recorded growth from the accommodation sector. Based on the 5-year Historical STR report for Osoyoos (2019-2023) on average there has been an increase of 9.9% in occupancy rates, an increase of approximately 8.7% in the average daily rate, and significant annual increases in MRDT.

Occupancy Rates: 2019-2023

On average, for the past 5 years, Osoyoos hotel occupancy saw minimal decrease despite ongoing travel restrictions due to COVID-19 and natural disasters such as flooding and fires. In 2022, Occupancy rates increased substantially.

2023	N/A	N/A

Average Daily Rate: 2019 – 2023

Osoyoos experienced a stable and relatively consistent ADR in the 5-year period which shows substantial economic growth in the accommodation and tourism sector, and therefore, strong MRDT revenues for the same year.

2022	$227	$221

Osoyoos MRDT Funds: 2019 - 2023

Continued monitoring of the receipt of MRDT funds can provide Destination Osoyoos with valuable indicators that help determine periods of growth and/or decline and how it compares to regional and provincial indicators as well as determine if our MRDT activities are well aligned with our investment efforts. Consistent growth in ADR over the past six years indicates strong growth in tourism for the Osoyoos community and stakeholders.

Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities & Threats

Osoyoos is ideally situated to continue to benefit from tourism in the years to come. External Opportunities

ACCELERATED DIGITIZATION

As part of this transformation, governments have an opportunity to reimagine their roles in providing data infrastructure and capabilities to the tourism sector. Data will give destinations a greater understanding of their visitors and allow them to see trends, make predictions and enhance experiences. Further, better data on customer journeys and preferences, coupled with insights on products, experiences and infrastructure, mean destinations can be more strategic in making demand-informed investments in destination development and stewardship. Destination Osoyoos will continue to use consumer data such as PRIZM analytics to make data driven marketing decisions and will ensure that stakeholders are prepared to meet consumer demands by the regular hosting of digital training seminars and sharing of digital resources, insights, and assets.

SOCIAL CHANGE

The need for diversity and inclusion is key to building a more sustainable, equitable and representative society that the tourism industry must embrace for the future. While the pandemic exposed systemic racism and structural inequities around the globe, a newfound awareness is providing a unique opportunity to catalyze real change and work towards genuine reconciliation. Destination Osoyoos will continue to work towards developing a sustainable and inclusive destination which will be reflective throughout our organizational core values.

STRATEGIC ALLIANCES AND CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING INITIATIVES

Destination Osoyoos continues to form and strengthen strategic alliances with the Thompson Okanagan Tourism Association (TOTA), Osoyoos Indian Band, Similkameen Independent Wineries Association, Oliver Osoyoos Wineries Association, Osoyoos Motel Hotel Association, and local businesses that represent key sectors. Destination Osoyoos will continue to participate in co-operative marketing initiatives on a regional and provincial level, which will enable extended reach to other parts of BC, Washington State and Alberta as well as to secondary markets that may not otherwise be achievable by marketing independently.

External Threats

LACK OF ACCESS & REDUCED TRANSPORT CONNECTIVITY

The fundamental change of airline economics globally will impact the competitiveness of Canadian aviation and overall air access. Reduced frequency on routes within Canada and, of particular importance, key international destinations, will have a prolonged impact on recovery prospects. This lack of air access is linked to reduced global connectivity for international carriers due to decreased or changing demand, labour shortages and delayed aircraft orders and is not expected to return for years. Access to ground transportation is increasingly limited across the country. Currently, it is inconsistent and expensive, creating challenges to the movement of travellers once in-destination. The pandemic, along with supply chain disruptions, has also forced the rental car industry to reduce a significant portion of its fleets in the early stages, reconfiguring the overall supply of rental vehicles and reshaping customer expectations in terms of availability and price.

LABOUR & SKILLS SHORTAGE

Recruiting, training and retaining staff across all tourism sectors was a perennial challenge prior to COVID-19, a situation that was even more acute in areas requiring specialized skills (e.g., culinary), in resorts and highly seasonal destinations and in frontline positions that required unique language and cultural capabilities. With dim prospects for employment in tourism during the pandemic, many workers have moved on to other industries resulting in a severe skill shortage and significant loss of intellectual capital in management ranks. Going forward, diminished workforce capacity and lack of training will be a major challenge to industry recovery.

HIGHER COSTS

High consumer demand for travel as restrictions are lifted, coupled with reduced supply and capacity, as well as workforce related constraints, are all fueling rising travel costs. Prices for airlines, hotel stays, food and car rentals have all been rising over the past several months as part of a larger inflation trend amid supply chain issues and an economic reopening. While airfares have not yet caught up with 2019 ticket prices in the US, the most popular destinations are seeing prices surge — hotel rooms in some popular destinations in the US are even more expensive than before the pandemic. In Canada, domestic fares are quickly catching up and, in some cases, surpassing 2019, while accommodation prices over the second half of 2021 are also at, or higher than, 2019 levels in some of the most in demand Canadian destinations.

PRODUCT DEGRADATION

For businesses already dealing with labor shortages, complex supply chains in today's global economy, COVID-19 and inflation bring uncertainty and even more challenges. Many providers have drastically scaled back operations and services, downgrading the quality of experience delivered, which clashes with consumers high expectations of travel.

Overall Goals, Objectives, and Targets

A strategic objective for Destination Osoyoos is to work in partnership whenever possible with a wide range of community stakeholders and tourism businesses to develop experiences and marketing programs that are focused on increasing visitation and overnight stays within the communities.

DO will facilitate the development of stakeholder partnerships with the intention of building shoulder periods and expanding the seasonality of the resort community pursuing regional “road trippers” over weekends and special events during need periods.

The overall goal for the five-year period is to create a thriving year-round tourism economy for Osoyoos and area. This will be highlighted by increasing overnight visitation to Osoyoos, this goal is based on a historical average increase of approximately 7% annually. This will be measured primarily by statistical data from STR reports that include occupancy, supply, and demand, MRDT revenue, as well as gate sales from local attractions, festivals and events and consultation with Osoyoos accommodation providers. Brand Positioning

The Destination Osoyoos brand has evolved over the years, and through repeated exposure and strong association with the regional and provincial brand, has successfully differentiated Osoyoos from competing communities.

Adopting Canada's Warmest Welcome as its tagline, the Osoyoos consumer brand is positioned as an all-season and inclusive desert destination that is a showcase of Indigenous culture, award-winning wineries, a vibrant culinary scene, sophisticated resorts, family-friendly motels, and a mecca for year-round outdoor experiences. With its warm and mild climate, the urban and eco-desert elements make Osoyoos a great choice for those seeking a weekend getaway, recreation, rest, or relaxation, while also positioning Osoyoos as a desirable and affordable community for meetings and corporate incentives.

To align the Destination Osoyoos brand with the organization's core values, DO will work towards completing a brand refresh in 2024. This brand refresh will support the organization's progression of developing a destination that is sustainable and inclusive.

Building a personal relationship between our visitors and Osoyoos is a critical element of our tourism brand and is accomplished by staying relevant and engaged through our online and social media platforms.

Destination Osoyoos strives to encourage local stakeholders to position and align their products and services within the community tourism brand rather than stand alone in their marketing initiatives. There is an advantage to brand positioning as it is readily identified regionally and provincially, which in return works effectively with the Thompson Okanagan Tourism Association and Destination BC brands.

Target Markets

Osoyoos continues to experience measurable growth in visitation from both regional and out of province markets. The primary contributor of revenue to the local tourism economy results from spending by visitors.

The following key target markets are identified as having the greatest potential to build upon Osoyoos strengths. They include the types of visitors that are priorities for Osoyoos, primary and secondary target markets, geographic target markets, as well as demographic and activity-based target groups. We recognize that to be competitive in the attraction and retention of employees we must make the commitment to our present and future team members and to provide a culture that uses Fairness, Openness, Respect, Sustainability, Integrity, Inclusiveness, and Service (our FORSIIS) as our guide. We have established pillars within the FORSIIS that identify the areas we are committed to deliver which includes an Employee Compensation Policy to ensure that our organization is transparent and remains competitive in attracting and retaining employees.

Committees and Task Forces

Through the guidance of the Destination Osoyoos Board of Directors, appointments are made for Standing and Special Committees (Ad Hoc) from among the members of the Society or otherwise as may be deemed fit. The composition of the Committees reflects the necessary expertise to achieve the Committee's objectives. The powers and duties of committees are defined by the Board and the Committees Code of Conduct, guided by the organization's Constitution & Bylaws and Board Policy Manual.

Each Committee's function is to bring the experience, expertise, and judgment of a group of interested and informed persons to bear on a specific area of the Society's responsibility. Its job is to assist the Board by considering matters referred to it in great depth that would not be possible by the whole Board. Committees isolate the key issues requiring Board consideration, propose alternative actions, present the implications, and make recommendations to the Board for decision. The following will continue to be the pillar Committees for Destination Osoyoos.

In 2021, a decision was made to dismantle the Destination Osoyoos Marketing Committee. As a Destination Marketing Organization, marketing is the key directive of the organization, therefore the development and implementation of marketing initiatives and activities is established at board level.
